STUDIES IN THE LIFE OF CHRIST.

BY THE

Rev. A. M. FAIRBAIRN, D.D.,

Principal of Airedale College, Bradford; author of "Studies in the Philosophy of Religion and History," etc.

12mo, cloth. Price, $1.75.

CONTENTS:

The HISTORICAL CONDITIONS—The NARRATIVES of the BIRTH and INFANCY—The GROWTH and EDUCATION of JESUS; HIS PERSONALITY—THE BAPTIST and the CHRIST—The TEMPTATION of CHRIST—The NEW TEACHER; The KINGDOM of HEAVEN—GALILEE, JUDEA, SAMARIA—The MASTER and the DISCIPLES—The EARLIER MIRACLES—JESUS and the JEWS—The LATER TEACHING—The LATER MIRACLES—JERICHO and JERUSALEM—GETHSEMANE—The BETRAYER—The CHIEF PRIESTS—The TRIAL—The CRUCIFIXION—The RESURRECTION.

"These 'Studies in the Life of Christ' are not exhaustive and critical discussions on the Gospel History, but are simply attempts at orientation—at reaching points of view from which the life of Christ may be understood and construed. . . . The author sends the volume forth in the hope that it may help to make the Person it seeks to interpret more real, living, and lovable, to the men of to-day."—From Preface.

"Prof. Fairbairn's thoughtful and brilliant sketches. Dr. Fairbairn's is not the base rhetoric often employed to hide want of thought or poverty of thought, but the noble rhetoric which is alive with thought and imagination to its utmost and finest extremities."—Rev. SAMUEL COX, in the Expositor.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON

WILL PUBLISH EARLY IN MARCH

A NEW AND COMPLETE EDITION OF

History of the War in the Peninsula

AND IN THE SOUTH OF FRANCE, FROM THE YEAR 1807 to 1814.

By Gen. W. F. P. NAPIER. In 5 vols., Crown 8vo (in a neat box).

"This New and Elegant Edition of General Napier's History—now famous—comes before us both as a work of art and a testimony. It might fail in the one capacity yet retain all its value in the other, but it justly challenges our admiration in both characters, and takes rank with those few but precious records wherein the scholar was an actor as well historian. To this high rank we think Gen. Napier has attained. Passages there are which will rest in men's memories to which we daily recur with unabated pleasure, and which may be quoted as among the finest which our language contains of nervous and splendid description."
—Edinburgh Review.

"SIR WILLIAM NAPIER'S HISTORY OF THE PENINSULAR WAR IS THE GREATEST MILITARY WORK IN THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE, OR INDEED IN ANY LANGUAGE, not even excepting the immortal commentaries of Caesar. General Foy's 'Guerre dans la Peninsule' is written with vast ability, but is so marked by national jealousy and animosity, that it loses much of the authority to which it would otherwise be entitled from the author's consummate knowledge of the art of war, and his familiarity with the memorable scenes and events he undertakes to describe. In these two invaluable requisites Sir William Napier was fully his equal; while HE POSSESSED AN EARNEST LOVE OF TRUTH, AND A SPIRIT OF LOFTY MAGNANIMITY, TO WHICH WE FIND NO PARALLEL IN THE FRENCH HISTORIAN. In truth, so faithful was our countryman in his endeavors to render justice to the splendid military qualities of Napoleon's troops in the Peninsula, and to the genius of his marshals, that Lord Mahon, himself a historian of great ability and candor, felt himself constrained to say that the present work was a French, rather than an English history of the long and eventful struggle in Portugal and Spain.

"It is creditable alike to Sir William Napier and to the American people that in this country the 'History of the Peninsular War' has passed THROUGH SEVERAL EDITIONS, THE ONE BEFORE US BEING UNQUESTIONABLY THE HANDSOMEST AND THE MOST COMPLETE. To the student of History—especially to him who loves to dwell on the romantic character of Portugal and Spain—the marches, sieges, and battles of Wellington's armies during six long years must always possess an interest which neither the Crimean war, nor the late great struggle in this country, can altogether efface. The soldier who is devoted to his profession, and who seeks great military principles and examples for his guidance, will pronounce Sir William Napier THE MOST FAITHFUL AND THE MOST COMPETENT AUTHORITY TO BE FOUND IN ANY AGE OR IN ANY COUNTRY."—SCOTTISH AMERICAN JOURNAL.

NOTES IN SEASON.

T. B. PETERSON & BROS. announce as nearly ready, "Mrs. Mayburn's Twins," by John Haberton, author of "Helen's Babies;" also, "Monsieur le Ministre," by Jules Claretie.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co. will publish in a few days an important hand-book for general readers on "Vaccination and Small-pox," by Dr. Joseph F. Edwards, whose recent work on "Malaria" has attracted such wide notice. It will be issued in low-priced form, and the clear views expressed may be the means of counteracting many objections advanced against proper means for the prevention of small-pox.

SOULE & BUGBEE, law booksellers of Boston, announce a nearly fac-simile reprint of a law-book two hundred and fifty years old, "Star-Chamber Cases: shewing what Causes properly belong to the Cognizance of that Court. Collected for the most part out of Mr. Crompton, his Booke, entitled The Iurisdiction of divers Courts." Its skilful manufacture, as well as its curious interest, will commend it to all lawyers.

ROBERT CLARKE & Co. have just published the "St. Clair Papers," comprising the life and public services of Arthur St. Clair, soldier of the Revolutionary war, President of the Continental Congress and Governor of the North-western Territory, with his correspondence and papers, arranged and annotated by Hon. Wm. H. Smith. This is the most important contribution of original material to American history issued for many years, and is handsomely gotten up in two volumes, with portraits and maps.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co. will publish immediately "Saunterings in Europe," by the Rev. Charles Wood, of Albany. It is an account of a journey, broken by some months of study, through Germany, France, Holland, Switzerland, England, and Scotland. One of the interesting features of the volume are the chapters devoted to the telling of half hours spent in Paris with Mr. Gladstone, in London with Dean Stanley and Mr. Hughes, and in Oxford with Dr. Bradley, the new Dean of Westminster.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON will, in March, add to their popular standard editions of Hallam, Lamb, Milman, D'Israeli, and Michaud, a new and uniform edition of Napier's "Peninsular War," out of print for some years. This stirring and vivid description of one of the most interesting passages in the world's history has long been a favorite with students and readers of history, and this new publishing venture, by which the public can secure a legitimate and excellent edition, at a price much less than heretofore, is both wise and commendable. The edition will be in five octavo volumes, with numerous maps and illustrations.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co.'s announcement of a new novel by "Ouida" will be good news to the trade. The works of this author are always in demand, and the forthcoming volume is said to be fully equal to any of her best. It will be entitled "Maremme," and will be uniform in style with the previous volumes. It will be ready in a few weeks. They will shortly publish two new volumes, one, "La Fontaine and other French Fabulists," by Rev. W. Lucas Collins, being the fourteenth volume of Foreign Classics for English Readers, the other, "Hume," by William Knight, LL.D., being the fifth volume of Philosophical Classics for English Readers.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. publish this week, in the American Actor series, "The Elder and the Younger Booth," by Mrs. Asia Booth Clarke, which can hardly be surpassed in interest by any other volume in the series; and "Familiar Allusions," a book of great convenience, enabling one to verify and definitely locate hundreds of current allusions which everybody knows, but few know precisely, or where they originated. This last book was begun by William A. Wheeler, author of the "Dictionary of the Noted Names of Fiction," and completed by his nephew, Charles G. Wheeler, who also finished his uncompleted book, "Who Wrote it?"

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. publish this week, in addition to the books named in our last number, "Through Siberia," by Henry Lansdell, an English missionary, who travelled 8000 miles, saw much of the government officials, prisoners, and schools, and makes a much more favorable report of Russian rule there than we usually hear. The work is in two volumes, with illustrations, route maps, and a portrait of Mr. Lansdell in the fish-skin costume of the Gilyaks, who live on the lower Amur River. Two additional volumes of Modern Classics are announced—one containing Shakespeare's Sonnets and Songs, with Leigh Hunt's Favorite Poems, the other the Favorite Poems of Herbert, Collins, Dryden, Marvell, and Herrick.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

In this list, the titles in bravies are direct transcriptions from books actually received, according to the rule of the American Library Association; those in nonparell are from the best information available, and will be repeated in bravies when the book is received for registry.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. folio: over 30 centimeters high; Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (2mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (4mo: 15 cm.); Ts. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (8mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figure instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

Imported books are marked with an asterisk; authors' and subscription books, or books published at net prices, with two asterisks; educational books published at "wholesale" prices, with a dagger.

Bowne, Borden P. Metaphysics: a study in first principles. N. Y., Harper, 1882. 14+534 p. O. cl., $2.50.

Opens with an introduction upon the definition and function of metaphysics, a discussion of Locke and Kant's conception of philosophical methods and the grounds of popular scepticism of philosophy, followed by an examination of the subjects of ontology, cosmology and physiology, which are the headings of the three parts into which the work is divided. Said to be the most important contribution to metaphysical science that has been made since Kant's work on the Pure Reason. It holds much the same relation to what has been developed since Kant as Kant's work held to that of his predecessors. Mr. Bowne is professor of Philosophy in Boston University, and author of "Studies in Theism."

Dr. Kane has studied the subject of which he writes carefully, and treated the evil professionally; he states that the practise of opium-smoking, comparatively unknown here some six years ago, is now indulged in by six thousand of our people, men and women, whose ranks are constantly recruited. Detailed descriptions are given of the drug and the various ways in which it is used as a stimulant, illustrations being drawn from the author's medical practice.

- A little book that will interest general readers, as it is free from technical terms. It tells many interesting facts about persons who imagine they have a disease, when it is simply a matter of consciousness, without any actual foundation, etc., etc.
- Tourgee, Albion W. John Eax and Mamelon; or, the South without the shadow. N. Y., Fords, Howard & Hulbert, [1882]. 6+300 p. S. cl., $1.
- Two separate stories of the South before and after the war, containing both Northern and Southern characters. "John Eax" gives the picture of a high-spirited youth, who, falling in love with the lovable niece of his father's overseer enrages his family by his daring persistence in following his own bent. "Mamelon," the second tale, is the name of an estate in North Carolina having some curious and interesting reference to the relics of the ancient mound-builders, who had left their traces on it. The story is told by the wife of the hero—a manly and conscientious young Southerner, whose gallantry in war made the more manifest his ill-success in the unaccustomed drudgery of practical affairs since the war.
- Tribune index for 1881: prefaced by a summary of the history of the world during the year. N. Y., Office of Tribune, 1882. 16° pap., 50 c.

THE UNITED STATES NEWS COMPANY.

THE many and conflicting rumors concerning the United States News Company that have been in circulation for the last two weeks have at last culminated in one fact, viz., the announcement that the company have decided to retire from business. The following announcement, issued from the office of the company, is, however, the only tangible information at present available:

55 CHAMBERS STREET, N. Y., Feb. 2, 1882.
As we find our business unprofitable, we have decided to close it up as soon as possible. You will therefore please place your order with some other house and notify us when to stop supplies.

We shall fill no orders after Saturday, Feb. 18; this will give you ample time to make the change, which we trust you will do as soon as convenient.

Balances due to dealers will be remitted as soon as supplies are discontinued; balances due to us we desire settled upon receipt of final statement.

With thanks for the patronage which we have been favored with,

We remain yours respectfully,
THE UNITED STATES NEWS CO.

The company was organized in 1881, and commenced business on June 1 last, having as business manager W. M. Chapman, and as treasurer R. F. Fenno, both gentlemen formerly connected with the American News Company.

The assertion that the disruption of the concern is due to a disagreement among stockholders as yet lacks confirmation, as does also the rumor that Mr. Westcott, of Westcott's Express, one of the large and original stockholders, has secured the control of his stock and has sold out or withdrawn from competition in the interest of the American News Company.

Whatever the cause of failure, it is a matter for regret that an organization so gallantly set afloat should come to wreck so soon, and that—despite the flourish of trumpets that sounded the advance—"in the nineteenth century, in the freest Republic in the world," the attempt "to overcome the trade Despotism opposed to us," should go down in defeat and death. The interests involved were worthier of a longer fight and a more stubborn resistance.

"SIC TRANSIT," ETC.

THE following circular, printed on mourning paper and mailed in ditto envelopes, tells its own story, and speaks volumes of high resolves and unrequited endeavors:

OBITUARY.

JONATHAN B. MITCHELL.

ON Friday morning, February 10, at Philadelphia, after a week's illness from pneumonia, Mr. Jonathan B. Mitchell, of the firm of J. B. Lippincott & Co., died at his residence No. 1424 Arch Street, having reached the age of sixty-one years. Mr. Mitchell was born in Philadelphia, and when quite a young man entered as clerk in the publishing house with which he soon became identified as partner. For thirty-five years he has been one of the firm, and under his charge for years was placed the printing-office and the bindery. He was himself a finished and thoroughly practical workman and it was found that he combined just the talents that were needed for the safe conduct of this important branch of the publishing house. Mr. Mitchell was prominently identified with the management of the Centennial Exposition, and later was one of the leading spirits in the permanent Exhibition. He has been identified with many prominent business movements to advance the city's prosperity, and was deeply interested in the reform movement in politics. Mr. Mitchell will be remembered as a very genial man, and one who easily won the affection of those about him. He leaves a wife and two sons.

DANIEL SLOTE.

DANIEL SLOTE, well known to the trade as the head of the blank-book house of Daniel Slote & Co., and known still more widely as the "Dan" of the "Innocents Abroad," the fidus Achates of Mark Twain, in his celebrated pilgrimage, died in this city on Monday, Feb. 13. Mr. Slote was for eight years a member of the New York Board of Education under the old system of ward commissioners and had been closely connected with the cause of education all his life. He was a member of the old volunteer Fire Department, and also served his time in the militia as a member of the old State Fencibles. At the time of his death he was a member of the St. Nicholas Society, the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen, the Olympic Club, the New York Yacht Club, the old Prospect Park Fair Ground Association, and Howard Lodge of Masons. Mr. Slote was for 20 years the head of the old firm of Slote, Woodman & Co., and in later years of that of Daniel Slote & Co. He married about 15 years ago a daughter of ex-Alderman James Griffiths, who survives him with their two young children.

WILLY WALLACH.

WILLY WALLACH, for over 30 years a resident of New York and one of the best known members of the stationery trade of this city, died at his residence in East 63d Street on the morning of Sunday, February 12, in the 61st year of his age. Mr. Wallach was born in Cassel, Germany, Nov. 25, 1821. His father was a farmer, and it was intended that he should follow the same occupation. He prosecuted his studies in the Polytechnic School of Cassel, and when they were completed he determined to give up the idea of following an agricultural life, and instead to become a merchant. In 1848 he came to New York as the representative of B. Dondorf & Co., lithographic publishers at Frankfort-on-the-Main, and established a branch house of that firm at No. 111 William St. In 1850 a son of the principal of the firm came to this country to superintend the business, and then Mr. Wallach established a house of his own at No. 43 John Street, where he remained 24 years. His knowledge of the paper and stationery trade generally was extensive, including the minutest details of the business, and under his supervision the John Street store soon became the centre of the stationers' trade in this city, and he rapidly became wealthy.

In 1874 he removed to Park Row, in The World building. Mr. Wallach was in his office when the great fire of Jan. 31 broke out, and rendered much valuable service toward the rescue and safety of the people who were in the building. The day was very stormy. Upon returning home he was suffering greatly from the exposure to which he was subjected. Inflammation of the bowels resulted, ending in his death on Sunday last.

Mr. Wallach added to his business energy a public-spirited interest in local affairs that made his name known outside his trade connections. He was one of the founders and the president at the time of his death of the German Hospital, and its success was mainly due to his labors and influence. He was also the first vice-president of the German Savings Bank. From 1865 to 1871 he was the president of the German Society. Appointed a Commissioner of Emigration in 1868, he held the office until 1876. While a commissioner he was instrumental in breaking up the "belt gang," which for a long time carried on successfully swindling operations among the immigrants. He was president of the German Dispensary, No. 65 St. Mark's Place, and of the Society for the Protection of the Poor, and President, until a few days ago, of the Stationers' Board of Trade, which he was chiefly instrumental in founding.

Mr. Wallach leaves a wife, one son, and three daughters. The business will, it is understood, be continued under the name of "Willy Wallach."

PERSONAL NOTES.

J. M. BUGBEE, of the firm of Soule & Bugbee, Boston, has been confined to his residence with typhoid fever, but is now nearly well again.

On February 7, Richard Brinckerhoff, of the firm of A. Cogswell & Co., and for a number of years connected with this office, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Miss Isabella Brett, daughter of the late William Wright, of Pater-son, N. J.

WM. A. CARRIE, for several years travelling salesman for Wm. Warwick & Son, Toronto, Canada, and more recently taking the same position for the Canada Publishing Co., of the same place, has disregarded the advice of the late Mr. Greeley, and come East, and is now in the stationery department of Messrs. Baker, Pratt & Co., of this city, where the trade will find him at all times happy to see them.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The enterprising firm of Maxwell & Co., of Bloomington, Ill., will open June 1 a book and stationery business in the new and elegant building at 134 and 136 Wabash Avenue.

KANSAS CITY, MO.—The old firm of Matt. Foster & Co., booksellers and stationers, was dissolved Jan. 2, Mr. Matt. Foster retiring. Mr. M. H. Dickinson, the former partner of Mr. Foster, will continue the wholesale business at 620 Main and 625 Delaware Sts.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Charles De Silver & Sons have removed to 1102 Walnut Street.

PHILADELPHIA.—John Dalziel, of Philadelphia, formerly of the firm of Dalziel & Markley, engravers and designers, has gone into business for himself at 1020 Arch Street. He intends to devote himself exclusively to the specialty of fine color work, natural history, and scientific illustrations, for which he is eminently fitted by long study and practice in scientific research, etc.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

CHAMBERS'S JOURNAL celebrates its fiftieth birthday this month with a number in which Dr. Robert Chambers, the senior editor, one of the original proprietors, will furnish a chapter of "Reminiscences of a Long and Busy Life."

HARPER & BROS. announce that all orders for the back numbers of their Weekly, Bazar, and Magazine, previous to January, 1878, should be sent in before July 1, 1882. After that date it is their intention to preserve back numbers of their periodicals for three years only.

THE CENTURY for March will contain a striking study of Lord Beaconsfield, by James Bryce, M.P., who was the author of the anonymous paper on Mr. Gladstone which appeared in the same magazine a little more than a year ago. Among the notable illustrations of this number will be a portrait of W. D. Howells, engraved by Closson, after the oil portrait by Frederick P. Vinton, and a portrait of Leigh Hunt. The latter is after a sketch made about the time Leigh Hunt was released from prison, where he was confined two years for libelling the Prince Regent. The Century Co. have decided to destroy the plates of all the numbers of Scribner's Monthly up to November, 1881, when that magazine became The Century. Missing back numbers have been reprinted, and complete sets of Scribner's can be furnished until the limited number is exhausted.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE death of Thomas R. Gould, the sculptor, cannot fail to lend fresh interest to his book on "The Tragedian: An Essay on the Histrionic Genius of Junius Brutus Booth."

To avoid any possible misunderstanding, we call attention to the fact that Mr. Henry Miller's name had no connection with the advertisement under which it appeared in our last week's issue.

GEN. GRANT'S letter about Gen. Fitz-John Porter recalls attention to Gen. Gordon's book on the "Campaigns of the Army of Virginia in 1862," in which the facts relating to that campaign and Gen. Porter's conduct are stated with soldierly directness.

ALL interested in the prospective establishment of distinct branches of the New York Free Circulating Library are informed that contributions are now being received by Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, at the banking house of Drexel, Morgan & Co., No. 23 Wall Street.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS announce that Mr. Froude's long-expected biography of Thomas Carlyle—the materials for which were placed in the author's hands by Carlyle himself, in accordance with his appointment of Mr. Froude as his literary executor—is completed, and that Mr. Froude has placed it in their hands for early publication. It will appear simultaneously with its issue in London.

WHITE & STOKES, of New York, have purchased of J. D. Avil & Co., of Philadelphia, their "decorated" stationery department. While they will continue the use of the best of the Avil dies, Messrs. White & Stokes will considerably extend the list and add attractive designs as rapidly as possible. Their presses are about to be put up, and they hope to be able in a few weeks to show some new designs of their hand-decorated papers, etc.

L. PRANG & Co., with their customary enterprise, are already in the field with their announcement of Easter cards for 1882. The designs are of the customary variety and artistic excellence, and among the contributing artists are Thomas Moran, Miss L. B. Humphreys, Miss Rosina Emmet, Mrs. O. E. Whitney, Miss Fidelia Bridges, and others. A new edition of last year's popular and beautiful Easter Dove is also issued, while the cards are single, double, fringed or unfringed, as preferred; special mention is to be made of two designs by Thomas Moran, "The Sun of Righteousness" and "The New Jerusalem." New designs in the line of birthday cards have also been made for this season's trade.

ON the 23d of December, 1881, the employees of the house of L. Prang & Co. celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the house by a supper and a ball, with the customary music, speeches, etc. As a memento of this celebration the committee in charge have issued a handsomely printed "Prang Souvenir," in the shape of a folio pamphlet, giving the history of the foundation and growth of Mr. Prang's business, an account of the festival, the speeches, poems, etc. It is illustrated by an excellent portrait of Mr. Prang, on steel, and by numerous other designs. The printing and presswork are admirable, and the matter is full of interest as commemorative of an incident which marks one of the points of observation in a business career at once so steadily progressive, so honorably successful, and so full of enterprise, as has been that of Mr. Louis Prang.

MR. J. C. JUTA, a well-known publisher and bookseller of Cape Town, says the Athenæum, "is about to establish an agency in London, which will be carried on by Mr. J. C. Juta, jun., in conjunction with Mr. J. L. Heelis, who has been, for more than twenty years, head of the foreign department at Messrs. Longmans'. As far as we are aware, this is the first instance of an African publishing firm having a London agency."

"It has been rumored," says the London Academy, "that a diary left by Lord Beaconsfield is to be published before very long. It is the fact that there are at least two diaries of Lord Beaconsfield's youth in existence, in one of which he relates his journey in the East with Mr. Clay. They are both diaries which were given away by the writer in his lifetime, and are therefore beyond the control of the executors."

L. PRANG & CO.'S EASTER CARDS FOR 1882.

We take pleasure in announcing to the trade that we are now ready with an elegant line of Easter Cards in great variety, and comprising many novelties in designs and make-up.

The prices range from 4 cents to $4 each, retail, and the designs embrace Flowers, Figures, Scenes, etc. Among the contributing artists to this year's selection we may mention:

THOMAS MORAN, Miss FIDELIA BRIDGES,
Mrs. O. E. WHITNEY, Miss L. B. HUMPHREYS, and Miss ROSINA EMMET.

The line comprises also a new edition of last year's Easter Dove, which was so popular that we were not able to supply the demand.

The Cards are made up in the usual styles of single card, double card, single-fringed and double-fringed card, and some on heavy mounts.

We call particular attention to No. 518 F Extra, a series of two designs by THOMAS MORAN, entitled "The Sun of Righteousness" and "The New Jerusalem," two elegant Cards, which are most elaborately trimmed with a combination of silk, silk cord and tassels, and silk fringe of new fancy pattern. We have also ready to which we desire to call the attention of the trade.

The usual discount to the trade.

Stock of goods will be ready after March 1, 1882. Price-Lists of Easter Cards and Birthday Cards sent on application.

Robert Clarke & Co.,

CINCINNATI,

HAVE JUST PUBLISHED THE

ST. CLAIR PAPERS.

The Life and Public Services of Arthur St. Clair, Soldier of the Revolutionary War, President of the Continental Congress, and Governor of the North-western Territory. With his Correspondence and other Papers, arranged and annotated.

By Hon. WM. HENRY SMITH, of Chicago.

2 vols., 8vo, with two portraits and map, $6.

Sent by mail, prepaid, on receipt of the price, or may be ordered through booksellers generally.

This is the most important contribution of original material to American history issued from the press for many years. The basis of the work is the St. Clair Papers, purchased by the State of Ohio from the St. Clair family. They are, however, largely supplemented by copies of letters, dispatches, etc., secured by the editor, in his long study of St. Clair's life and services, in the State, War, and Treasury Departments, and others from various State archives and private hands, a large proportion of which have never before been published. They cover the last of the Colonial days, the Revolutionary period, the establishment of civil government north-west of the Ohio under the Ordinance of 1787, the intrigues of the British, French, and Spaniards in the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys, and the later political intrigues of the Anti-Federalists to secure additional electoral votes for the second election of Mr. Jefferson, all fresh, interesting, and valuable.

The second volume is entirely devoted to the affairs of the North-western Territory, and contains historical material of the greatest importance and interest.

The author makes conspicuous the genius, ability, patriotism, and courage of St. Clair, heretofore unjustly neglected by historians; adds new interest to the brilliant exploits on the Delaware in the winter of 1776-7, and for the first time places before the reader a complete account of the evacuation of Ticonderoga and Mount Independence in July, 1777, which resulted in the capture of Burgoyne and his army. He corrects errors committed by previous historians, and, on controverted points, presents new views drawn from hitherto unpublished materials.

Trade supplied by LEE & SHEPARD, A. WILLIAMS & Co., ESTES & LAURIAT, Boston; C. T. DILLINGHAM, DODD, MEAD & Co., GEO. P. PUTNAM'S SONS, New York; J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co., PORTER & COATES, Philadelphia; JANSEN, MCCLURG & Co., Chicago.
